Also has copy of 1940 BOB photo with Peter Howard Williams DFC and copies of the official Battle of Britain 1940 Air Ministry account booklets. This elegant commemorative edition celebrates the 70th anniversary of the Battle of Britain, as depicted by the world's finest aviation artist, Robert Taylor. More than thirty dynamic actions during the aerial battle are depicted, supported by expert text and contemporary accounts describing each scene. At the end of the summer of 1940, only one nation in Europe still remained defiant of Nazi Germany. After the collapse of France, Poland, Belgium, and the Netherlands, and given the professed neutrality of the Soviet Union and the United States, Adolf Hitler had only one remaining conquest in sight the British isles upon which he dispatched his mighty Luftwaffe. However, in Winston Churchill, he encountered a leader equal in combatant spirit to himself, who furthermore could call on the RAF to fight back against what was then the world's strongest air force. The result was a desperate combat, wherein outnumbered British fighters rose to disrupt the enemy bomber streams, even as German fighters pounced on British formations, singling out individual pilots for aerial duels. In the end, the Spitfires and Hurricanes of Fighter Command were able to hold off the Nazi swarms, thus saving Britain from a full invasion and ensuring that the democracies would still have a springboard back into Europe, once the U.S. had entered the war. Never in the course of human history, said Churchill later, have so many owed so much to so few. His words were more true than he could have known at the time. Featuring exceptional quality art-printing, Robert Taylors Battle of Britain includes detailed information about the Battle of Britain, as well as the stories behind his paintings, augmented by the recollections of some of the most famous aces who fought in the battle, including Douglas Bader, Johnnie Johnson, and the German ace, Adolf Galland. Robert Taylors paintings of aircraft, more than those of any other artist, have helped popularize the genre. Based in the UK, he has exhibited throughout the US and Canada, Australia, Japan, and Europe. His paintings hang in many of the world's great aviation museums and adorn boardrooms, offices and homes, and his limited edition prints are avidly collected all around the world. This collected work to mark the 70th anniversary of the battle will be an essential acquisition for both aviation enthusiasts and serious students of World War II. Good condition Est. £100 - 140

Personally signed by 3 polish Battle of Britain pilots Colonel Stanislaw Skalski DSO DFC WW11 Ace After completing Pilot Training School in 1938 Skalski was ordered to the 142nd Fighter Squadron in Torun On 1 September 1939 he attacked a German Henschel Hs 126 reconnaissance aircraft, which was eventually shot down by Marian Pisarek. Skalski then landed next to it, helped to bandage wounded crew members and arranged for them to be taken to a military hospital. By 16 September Skalski reached "ace" status, claiming a total of six German aircraft and making him the first Allied air ace of World War II. Soon after he fled the country with other Polish pilots to Romania, and from there via Beirut to France and after went on to fight with the Royal Air Force in the Battle of Britain. In August 1940 Pilot Officer Skalski joined 501 Squadron. From 30 August to 2 September 1940 he shot down a He 111 bomber and three Messerschmitt Bf 109s. On 5 September Skalski himself was shot down. Skalski bailed out with severe burns that hospitalized him for six weeks. He returned to his unit in late October 1940. During the Battle of Britain, he was credited with four planes shot down and one shared. Flew on Voskhod 1. First spacecraft designer in space. Participated in Second World War. During the Nazi occupation of Voronezh, at the age of just 16, Feoktistov fought with the Soviet Army against the Nazi German invaders, carrying out reconnaissance missions. After being captured by an Waffen-SS Army patrol, Feoktistov was shot by a German officer. However, the bullet went right through his chin and neck and did not kill him. Feoktistov was able to crawl out later and then make his way to the Soviet lines. Recruited after graduation as a civilian engineer, Korolev OKB. 376 - USA FDC Signed R K Sorenson CMH Medal of Honor holder US Marine Corps Reserve, 4th Marine Division CMH Congressional Medal of Honor Holder Place and Date Vicinity 1 - 2 February 1944 Namur Island, Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands CITATION For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty while serving with an assault battalion attached to the 4th Marine Division during the battle of Namur Island, Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands on 1-2 February 1944. Putting up a brave defence against a particularly violent counterattack by the enemy during invasion operations, Pvt. Sorenson and five other marines occupying a shell hole were endangered by a Japanese grenade thrown into their midst. Unhesitatingly, and with complete disregard for his own safety, Private Sorenson hurled himself upon the deadly weapon, heroically taking the full impact of the explosion. As a result of his gallant action, he was severely wounded, but the lives of his comrades were saved. His great personal valour and exceptional spirit of self-sacrifice in the face of almost certain death were in keeping with the highest traditions of the U.S. Naval Service. Details enclosed. 377 - USA FDC Signed N G Gordon CMH Medal of Honor holder Bismarck Sea 19446 Jun 1994 US Navy USS Normandy FDI 50th Anniversary WW11. Allies land in Normandy D - Day 6 June 1944. Personally Signed by Lieutenant Nathan Green Gordon US Navy, Commander of Catalina Patrol Plane Pilot CMH Congressional Medal of Honor Holder Place and Date Vicinity 15 February 1944 Bismarck Sea. CITATION For extraordinary heroism above and beyond the call of duty as commander of a Catalina patrol plane in rescuing personnel of the U.S. Army 5th Air Force shot down in combat over Kavieng Harbor in the Bismarck Sea, 15 February 1944. On air alert in the vicinity of Vitu Islands, Lt. Gordon unhesitatingly responded to a report of the crash and flew boldly into the harbour, defying close-range fire from enemy shore guns to make three separate landings in full view of the Japanese and pick up nine men, several of them injured. With his cumbersome flying boat dangerously overloaded, he made a brilliant take off despite heavy swells and almost total absence of wind and set a course for base, only to receive the report of another group stranded in a rubber life raft 600 yards from the enemy shore. Promptly turning back, he again risked his life to set his plane down under direct fire of the heaviest defences of Kavieng and take aboard six more survivors, cooly making his fourth dexterous take off with 15 rescued officers and men. By his exceptional daring, personal valor, and incomparable airmanship under most perilous conditions, Lt. Gordon prevented certain death or capture of our airmen by the Japanese. Details enclosed. Good condition Est. £8 - 10

383 - The National ex-prisoner of war association Signed Vera Lynn, Earl Haig (Colditz POW) Personally Signed by Major Earl Haig OBE DL who fought in WWII from 1939-1942 until he was captured in the Middle East and made one of the VIP prisoners held at Colditz castle until he was released in 1945. He served as a train bearer at the coronations of King George V1, and sit as a Conservative Peer in the House of Lords. Vera Lynn. married clarinettist and saxophonist Harry Lewis in 1939, the year World War II broke out. In 1940 she began her own radio series, "Sincerely Yours", sending messages to British troops stationed abroad. In this show she and a quartet performed the songs most requested of her by soldiers abroad. She also went into hospitals to interview new mothers and send messages to their husbands overseas. (She could be the 'Forces' Sweetheart' without being outstandingly glamorous, more like the reassuring home-maker type; thus she did not alienate the wives.) She toured Egypt, India, Burma and gave outdoor concerts for soldiers. In 1942 she recorded the song "We'll meet again '" whilst making the film of the same name. The nostalgic lyrics ("We'll meet again, don't know where, don't know when, but I know we'll meet again some sunny day") had a great appeal to the many people separated from loved ones during the war, and it became one of the emblematic songs of the wartime period.
