Peter Vigne Ayerst, DFC (4 November 1920 - 15 May 2014) was a Royal Air force officer and flying ace of the Second World War. He was the last surviving No. 73 Squadron pilot and test pilot from Castle Bromwich Aerodrome. Ayerst was commissioned into the Royal Air Force on 14 December 1938 as an acting pilot officer on probation. In August 1939, he was posted to No. 73 Squadron RAF to fly Hurricanes. He was regraded to pilot officer on probation on 3 September 1939 and his commission was confirmed on 6 October 1939. He was sent to France with the squadron and scored his first victory in April 1940. After a spell instructing, when he shared in the destruction of a He 111 with two other instructors, he had postings with both 145 and 243 Squadrons. In July 1942 he went to North Africa with 33 Squadron, before being promoted to flight commander with 238 Squadron, both postings with further combat success. After a period in South Africa, he returned to the UK, joining 124 Squadron flying Spitfire MkVIIs in defence of the invasion ports, where he scored his final victory; then flew Spitfire MkIXs on bomber escorts to Germany. He later became a Spitfire test pilot at Castle Bromwich with the instruction of Alex Henshaw. After the war, he became one of the most highly regarded wartime instructors in the RAF. 192 - WW2 RAF Robert Foster DFC Battle of Britain WW2 RAF fighter pilot signed Hurricane photo. 12 x 8 colour hand signed photo. Wing Commander Bob Foster was one of the heroes of the Battle of Britain, flying Hurricanes and Spitfires with 605 Squadron. He was credited with destroying and damaging a number of enemy aircraft; later in the war he destroyed at least five Japanese aircraft while flying from airfields in northern Australia. The squadron was stationed for much of the early years of the war at Drem, just outside Edinburgh, from where they patrolled the North Sea. It was sent south in May 1940 to cover the evacuation from Dunkirk and then returned to Drem. The squadron was moved south in September when Foster was heavily engaged in the Battle of Britain, and at the end of that month he achieved his first success, damaging an enemy plane while his own Hurricane was hit by enemy fire in the dog fight. The following month he shot down two enemy aircraft and shared in the destruction of another. Further kills followed and he chased a German bomber out to sea. In September 1941, he joined a fighter training unit as an instructor. He was transferred to Australia to join two Spitfire squadrons of the Royal Australian Air Force which flew from Darwin to counter Japanese bombing raids. Foster flew the first Spitfire to shoot down a Japanese aircraft and in June 1943 he led his squadron into a pitched air battle with 30 Japanese bombers. He was the third pilot to claim five successes over Australia (earning him the title of ace) and a few weeks later he was awarded a DFC. Good condition Est. £4 - 6

194 - WW2 RAF Byron Duckenfield Battle of Britain WW2 RAF fighter pilot signed Hurricane photo. 12 x 8 colour hand signed photo. Duckenfield began his RAF career at No. 10 Flying Training School at RAF Ternhill near Market Drayton in 1935. Having qualified as a pilot and been promoted to the rank of Sergeant, he was posted to 32 Squadron at RAF Biggin Hill on 8 August 1936 to fly Hurricanes. He was part of the testing which resulted in the formation of the Chain Home Low coastal radar stations. He joined 74 Squadron who were flying Spitfires in April 1940. He was soon posted to 501 Squadron in France, and after just six days there, he cheated death when on board a Bristol Bombay transport aircraft which crashed in France, killing three squadron members and the crew, and injuring six others. He was sent to hospital back in the UK. Back with 501 on 23 July, on 15 August Duckenfield clashed with Dornier Do 215s, shooting one down and claiming another as a 'probable'. On 28 August he claimed a Messerschmitt 109, and another on 8 September. On 15 September he was posted to RAF Northolt to serve as a test pilot at the Air Fighting Development Unit. Awarded an Air Force Cross in late 1941, Duckenfield was also Mentioned in Despatches. Serving with 615 Squadron in Burma in late December 1942, Duckenfield was shot down over Magwe and captured. He spent two-and-a-half years in a Rangoon jail and remained a POW until May 1945. In November 1949, Duckenfield undertook a refresher course at the Flying Training School, after which he took command of 19 Squadron flying Hornets and Meteors from RAF Church Fenton. Duckenfield was awarded the Queen's Commendation for Valuable Service in the Air. After a number of staff positions, he retired from the RAF as a Group Captain on 28 May 1969. His final score was three kills and one shared aircraft destroyed, and one damaged. Good condition Est. £4 - 6

274 - WW2 Pathfinder Henry Shackleton 405 sqn bomber command signed stunning 12 x 8 inch colour Lancaster in flight photo. In 1940 Henry left school and volunteered as a Pilot at the age of 18 and 9 months, receiving his Wings as a Pilot Officer at Cranwell College one week before he was 19. He was then sent to North Battlefield, Saskatchewan as a Flying Instructor . By coincidence his elder brother and sister were born in Saskatchewan, though he was born in the U.K. In 1943, with 1, 500 flying hours, he was posted to Middleton St George, Darlington, U.K. to join the R.C.A.F 419 Moose Squadron where his R.A.F. crew did 18 bombing trips in their Halifax to Germany and Italy without mishap. Thet then volunteered to join Pathfinders and were posted to R.C.A.F 405 Squadron at Gransden Lodge. 4 Pathfinder trips on Lancasters , target Berlin, went without mishap, but on the 5th one on January 30/31st 1944 they were attacked by two nightfighters, resulting in the loss of use by their port wing forcing him to shout "abandon aircraft". His Wireless Operator, Red Williams put on his navigator chest parachute, then decided to get a bar of chocolate from his desk, taking off his parachute to put it in his tunic, then replacing his chute at which he heard an explosion as Henry was blown out of the cockpit . (He obviously was suffering from lack of oxygen as the Lancaster was in a spiralling dive) He jumped out of the hole in the cockpit and landed in a Berlin street, immediately taken prisoner . After being blown out, Henry pulled on what he thought was my parachute release, but it was release of his seat harness! When it fell away he searched again and to his relief the parachute opened before he fell onto a bush in a Berlin Park. Henry hid by day and walked by night but on the third night, just after people had come out of their shelter during another bomb attack, some children surrounded him, and he was taken to the Burgermasters house, where kind ladies bathed his face and gave him food. (One could assume they were thinking of their own sons bombing the U.K. and he always feel this should be said.) However, a pompous and drunken Army Officer took Henry to a Berlin police cell (which was warm!) A few days later he met Red Williams at the Frankfurt Interrogation Centre, who told him he had been taken to a crashed Lancaster and understood their other five crew members had lost their lives. Thereafter Henry spent until March 1945, as a P.O.W. in Stalag Luft 3. They all took part in the long march to the Germans last stand in Berlin, from which 400 of them escaped from the Camp across the river to the Americans. Good condition Est. £4 - 6

275 - WW2 Jim Wright DFC 61, 630, 97 sqn bomber command signed stunning 12 x 8 inch colour Lancaster in flight photo. December 1943. Moved to East Kirkby to become part of newly formed 630 squadron. 280 - WW2 German Leutnant Alfred Regeniter KC signed 6x4 inch black and white photo. On 01.02.1945 Leutnant Regeniter and his Batterie defeated an enemy tank attack west of Dretz (West Prussia). Regeniter and two of his platoons were then sent into a counterattack against the villages of Belino and Katsau on 03.02.1945 with elements of the Grenadier-Regiment 448 and 70 men from the Fallschirm-Flak-Abteilung 2 in support. In a swift assault they attacked the village of Belino first and, without losing any assault guns, managed to capture the city while destroying 3 enemy SU-85s, 1 T-34, 1 IS-2 and 2 4.5-cm AT guns. A Soviet captain and 6 soldiers were also taken prisoner. Regeniter's force then advanced in wedge formation to retake Katsau. Regeniter himself led the way into the village with another StuG, however this latter vehicle was soon disabled by motor damage. Regeniter nevertheless decided to press on alone, destroying 2 enemy assault guns and enabling the following German infantry to clear out the Soviet troops in the village. Regeniter would receive the Knight's Cross for the outstanding leadership of his Batterie during these battles as well as his personal total of 17 enemy AFVs destroyed, which included 4 IS-2 heavy tanks. She was a successful box-office draw in British cinema for 20 years and was voted the most popular star in Britain in 1949. She was known for providing glamour and sophistication to war-torn London audiences with her lightweight musicals, comedies, and historical dramas. Almost all of her films were produced and directed by Herbert Wilcox, whom she married in 1943. In her historical dramas, Neagle was renowned for her portrayals of British historical figures, including Nell Gwyn (Nell Gwyn, 1934), Queen Victoria (Victoria the Great, 1937 and Sixty Glorious Years, 1938), Edith Cavell (Nurse Edith Cavell, 1939), and Florence Nightingale (The Lady with a Lamp, 1951). 313 - Veteran actor Ian Carmichael signed 150th ann Florence Nightingale 1970 FDC, English actor who worked prolifically on stage, screen and radio in a career that spanned seventy years. Born in Kingston upon Hull, in the East Riding of Yorkshire, he trained at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, but his studies-and the early stages of his career-were curtailed by the Second World War. After his demobilisation he returned to acting and found success, initially in revue and sketch productions. In 1955 Carmichael was noticed by the film producers John and Roy Boulting, who cast him in five of their films as one of the major players. The first was the 1956 film Private's Progress, a satire on the British Army; he received critical and popular praise for the role, including from the American market. In many of his roles he played a likeable, often accident-prone, innocent. In the mid-1960s he played Bertie Wooster in adaptations of the works of P. G. Wodehouse in The World of Wooster for BBC Television, for which he received mostly positive reviews, including from Wodehouse. In the early 1970s he played another upper-class literary character, Lord Peter Wimsey, the amateur but talented investigator created by Dorothy L. Sayers. Good condition Est. £4 - 6

333 - Veteran actress Dulcie Gray signed 1982 Benham Charles Darwin small silk FDC. While at drama school in the late 1930s she met a fellow student, Michael Denison. They married in 1939 and were together for 59 years before his death in 1998. The couple's professional careers were intertwined; in their early years they appeared in several films together and throughout their careers they frequently acted on stage together. Although she was well known for her starring roles in films of the late 1940s and early 1950s, most of Gray's career was in the theatre. Her range was extensive, and she appeared in Shakespeare, farce, thrillers, classics by Sheridan, Wilde, Chekhov, Shaw and Coward, absurdist drama, and numerous new plays. In the 1980s she became well known to British television viewers when she starred in a long-running soap opera, Howards' Way. Good condition Est. £4 - 6

364 - Concorde John Lidiard 1st Passenger Flight SEO 1976 signed 12 x 8 colour photo. Super image with dropped snoop nose. By the evening of Tuesday 20th January 1976 preparations were complete - aircraft certification and engineering, crew training and operational planning, passenger services and airport facilities. Plus, of course, the vital co-ordination with Paris to ensure that British Airways and Air France Concorde's would take-off at precisely the same time the following morning. Even fine weather was forecast! By mid-morning next day, as Captain Norman Todd, Captain Brian Calvert and Senior Flight Engineer John Lidiard completed their pre-flight preparation they were acutely aware that all departments wishes and efforts were focussed on just one thing - a trouble-free and on-time departure to inaugurate the world's first supersonic scheduled passenger service. John spent nine years involved with Concorde Development including operating as a Flight Test Flight Engineer with British Aerospace. John operated as Flight Engineer on the first Commercial Flight with Captains Norman Todd and Brian Calvert with Chief Test Pilot Brian Trubshaw acting as an observer. 402 - WW2 RAF pilot Peter Twiss signed scarce 12 x 8 inch b/w Fairey Delta plane, in which he broke the World speed record in 1956. Rejected as a pilot by the Fleet Air Arm, he was accepted as a Naval Airman Second Class on the outbreak of the Second World War. After training at 14 Elementary and Reserve Flying Training School, Castle Bromwich, he went on to fly Fairey Battles and Hawker Harts. He underwent operational training at RNAS Yeovilton flying Blackburn Rocs, Blackburn Skuas and Gloster Gladiators. His next posting was at the School of Army Co-operation at Andover, flying Bristol Blenheims as a twin conversion. He was then posted to 771 Squadron in the Orkney Islands, flying a variety of naval aircraft on various duties, including met observations at 12000 ft in winter in the open cockpit of a Fairey Swordfish, and target-towing duties. He then served with the Merchant Ship Fighter Unit on catapult ships flying Hawker Hurricanes. These missions required the pilot to ditch or bale out, in the expectation of being recovered by a passing ship. During the Malta Convoys in 1942, he flew Fairey Fulmars with 807 Squadron, from the carrier HMS Argus. For his service, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross (DSC) in June 1942. Later in the year, the squadron converted to Supermarine Seafires flying from HMS Furious for the Operation Torch landings in North Africa. During the Allied landings in Algeria and Morocco, he added a bar to his DSC, gazetted in March 1943. By this time, he had shot down one Italian aircraft (a Fiat CR.42 on 14 May 1942) and damaged another. He then flew long-range intruder operations over Germany from RNAS Ford, developing night fighter tactics with the RAF's Fighter Interception Unit. Ford also acted as an operational research unit and so Twiss flew missions over occupied Europe, in Bristol Beaufighters and de Havilland Mosquitos, so putting the unit's theory into practice. He claimed two Junkers Ju 88s shot down during 1944. Good condition Est. £10 - 14

408 - Titanic Survivor Edith Haisman signed to back of 6 x 4 inch b/w Titanic at Sea postcard. Father appeared a few minutes later. He told us, 'You'd better put on your life jackets and something warm, it's cold on deck. It's just a precaution. We've struck an iceberg, it's nothing much. The steward in the corridor says it's nothing to worry about.' We waited for ages on the boat deck for someone to tell us what to do. The ship's band was playing ragtime. They played to keep our spirits up. Everybody kept saying, 'She's unsinkable. She won't go down.' Father kissed us and saw us into Lifeboat 14. Up to fifty people got in as it swung perilously over the side. One man jumped into the boat dressed as a woman. As we rowed away from the ship, we could still hear the band playing, but now it was hymns. We were almost six hours in the lifeboat and during that time we had no water and nothing to eat. I kept wondering if my father had gotten off the ship, that's all I could think of. Good condition Est. £30 - 40
409 - Titanic Survivor B V Dean signed 1989 Great British Liners Bardsey Island cover. Bertram boarded the Titanic with his parents and sister at Southampton on Wednesday April 10, 1912 as a Third Class passenger. He was soon to be two years old while Millvina was only a few weeks old. The Deans were originally to board the Adriatic but a coal strike caused the transfer of passengers to the new White Star liner which was then making its inaugural crossing. The Deans were in their cabin when the liner struck an iceberg on the evening of April 14, 1912. Bertram Frank, awakened by the noise, came up on deck to find out what was happening. Alerted by the news, he went back down to his cabin and woke up his wife, ordering her to dress the two children warmly and get on the Boat Deck. Once there, it is difficult to establish with certainty the sequence of events. Although Eva Dean did embark on the same lifeboat as her daughter, we cannot however know whether the young Bertram Vere was also with his mother or whether, or was lost in the crowd and the confusion, and been in another lifeboat. In any case, the two children were saved, which was not the case for father Bertram Frank Dean who died in the sinking and whose body, subsequently, was probably never found. Good condition Est. £30 - 40
410 - Titanic Survivor Millvina Dean signed 6 x 4 inch b/w Titanic postcard. The Deans were not supposed to be aboard the Titanic, but due to a coal strike they were transferred onto it and boarded it as third-class passengers at Southampton, England. Dean was nine weeks old when she boarded the ship. Her father felt its collision with the iceberg on the night of 14 April 1912 and, after investigating, returned to his cabin, telling his wife to dress the children and go up on deck. Dean, her mother, and her brother were placed in Lifeboat 10. Her father did not survive, and his body, if recovered, was never identified. Good condition Est. £30 - 40

412 - Maureen O'Hara 1940s veteran actress signed 7 x 5 inch b/w photo, to Susanne. O'Hara appeared in films such as How Green Was My Valley (1941) (her first collaboration with John Ford), The Black Swan with Tyrone Power (1942), The Spanish Main (1945), Sinbad the Sailor (1947), the Christmas classic Miracle on 34th Street (1947) with John Payne and Natalie Wood, and Comanche Territory (1950). O'Hara made her first film with John Wayne, the actor with whom she is most closely associated, in Rio Grande (1950); this was followed by The Quiet Man (1952), The Wings of Eagles (1957), McLintock! (1963), and Big Jake (1971). Such was her strong chemistry with Wayne that many assumed they were married or in a relationship. In the 1960s, O'Hara increasingly turned to more motherly roles as she aged, appearing in films such as The Deadly Companions (1961), The Parent Trap (1961), and The Rare Breed (1966). She retired from the industry in 1971, but returned 20 years later to appear with John Candy in Only the Lonely (1991). Good condition Est. £10 - 14
